Answer: They keep reading the book. Choose the correct answer. In this free gerunds and infinitives 'Find someone who...' activity, students ask and answer questions with gerunds and infinitives. This is a good activity to use when introducing gerunds and infinitives for the first time. First, students pass through the worksheet articles and form the questions they need to do the activity, for example, 'Do you like watching horror movies?' Students go through the classroom asking and answering questions. When a classmate answers 'yes' to a question, the student writes his name and asks a follow-up question for more information, for example, 'Why do you like to watch horror movies?' When everyone is done, students use infinitives to give feedback to the class on what they learned from their classmates. In this fun activity of gerunds, students talk about what they like to do at certain times. To start, start, read through the worksheet and tick the option in each category that best describes what they like doing. Students can add their own answer if they wish using a gerund. Students then ask questions to their classmates to find a student who has the same interest as them in each category, e.g. 'What do you like doing in the morning?' When a student finds someone who likes doing the same thing, they write each other's names down and move on to speak to another student. When everyone has finished, the students tell the class about their findings. Writing Argumentative Essays Articles Letters and Emails More Links English News Articles Privacy Policy Policy
